What we are all about

Focus on your business

We've got your energy sorted

Over 5.4 million saved for our clients so far and still going.

Since we began we have been helping New Zealand businesses to not only save money on their electricity and gas but to understand it better and get it under control.

EMP have helped a few businesses you might know of, such as: Resene Paints, Presbyterian Support, Farmers Department Stores, Quest Apartments and several schools nationally.

Our Vision

The Challenge

Certain industries thrive on the confusion that surrounds them. The energy industry is a great example.

The complex pricing, the technical elements and the occasional cowboy salesman. It can be very hard to tell 'the good from the bad'.

Energy costs are continually increasing, impacting your bottom line. The problem is that any attempt to rectify it seems to cost more time and money than it's really worth!

The Solution

As a successful business person you want your costs to be lower, but the fact is you want so much more.

You want your energy to be cheaper, easier to track, less confusing and more efficient. You want this to fit seamlessly into your business whilst taking no time or resources to do it.

Our Mission

EMP seeks to make your energy brighter.

Using our simple methodology you can access all of these things;

- Lower costs
- Less admin time
- More information
- Better control
- Seamless integration

With over $5.4 million saved for NZ businesses so far the results speak for themselves.

Energy Management

- Save money immediately
- Save time on administration
- Enhanced monitoring for better decisions

EnergyInsight (our energy management service) is a really simple one. We start by saving you money on the price you pay, sort of like a broker for your energy. We add advanced monitoring techniques to ensure things are going well and to allow you to make more informed decisions. Then we top it off by taking the administration work away from you.

The end result: We do all the work and you save money.

Private Networks

- Tenants save money
- Landlord/building makes money
- No mess, no hassle

Specifically designed for shared tenancies, or unit and strata title buildings. Basically if you have multiple tenancies in the one building or facility we can help.

Private networks are simple arrangements where the tenants are supplied through one building connection. All tenants still have their own meter so there is no confusion around who is using what, you simply share the overhead costs of the energy and save money.

EMP will not only assist with the electrical works needed to make this happen but also the end to end management of the ongoing administration.

Energy Advice

- Efficiency of appliances
- Efficiency of usage
- Cost effectiveness of connections

There are many ways to save on your energy bill. But what if we told you that often the easiest way to save the most money is right in front of you.

There is more to efficiency than just how much you use. EMP look at everything. Our approach is simple: we look at the things using energy, the way your business use those things and finally the way you get your energy.

Most of the time there are opportunities to save money through very simple solutions. EMP will guide you through this.

New Property Development

- Set up right for long term cost efficiencies
- Deal with your lines network
- Sort out the best supply deal

With a new development you have the unique opportunity to ensure that things are done with the future in mind.

EMP can help you deal with the complexities of the local lines network, set you up with the best energy supply right from the start and make sure you are connected in the best possible way to minimise ongoing costs.

Jim Park

Quest Apartments Albany

“ We have been working with EMP since 2012 and they have helped us immensely in understanding the complex energy industry. When we first started our business, we struggled to keep our energy cost down without knowing what was going on. We stumbled upon EMP as a company that could help us audit our energy usage and that is exactly what they have done for us. They have the team of experts in the field who were able to quickly identify, analyse our energy consumption and provide constructive feedback on ways that we could improve our energy usage.
